2 PLEAD GUILTY TO AUTO THEFT, AND A ROBBERY

Local Man Posts $1500 Bail For Court; Littlestown Man Jailed.

GAS STATION IN COUNTY ROBBED

With the arrest of Rodney Smith, 27, of Littlestown, Saturday evening, the second person taken into custody in connection with the robbery of the Fleet-Wing service station, Littlestown, and the theft of the automobile of Stewart Reese, of Littlestown, last Wednesday night, state police today said they had succeeded in clearing up all phases of the two cases.

Chester Lawrence, 27, West Middle street, was arrested last Thursday evening for alleged participation in the robberies, and was held incommunicado at the Adams county jail until the officers arrested Smith, whom Lawrence named as his alleged accomplice.

Both Lawrence and Smith signed pleas of guilty to two charges of breaking, entering and larceny before Justice of the Peace John C. Shearer. The informations for their arrest were laid before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher, Littlestown.

Lawrence posted $1500 bail for court, while Smith was committed to jail in default of bail. Both men signed confessions, state police said. In their alleged confessions, Lawrence and Smith admitted breaking into the service station and stealing six cartons of cigarettes, $150 in pennies, $2 in nickels and a 32-caliber revolver. They then admitted, state police said, breaking into the garage of Stewart Reese and taking his automobile.

Afterward, Lawrence and Smith admitted driving to Gettysburg, where the former got out at his home. Smith then drove to Harrisburg where he abandoned the machine. The car was found in Harrisburg last Friday.

Smith returned to Littlestown and then went to the home of a relative in Mt. Pleasant township, near Gulden's station.

John L. V. Bomgardner, of Littlestown, who assisted state police in apprehending Lawrence, learned that Smith had returned to Littlestown and had gone to the home of a relative in Mt. Pleasant township. When state police and Officer Bomgardner arrested Smith they recovered the revolver and several packages of cigarettes.

Both Lawrence and Smith have criminal records, according to state police. Lawrence served a term at Huntingdon reformatory about 10 years ago for arson and Smith is on parole from the local courts.

APPEALS DELAY FILLING LOCAL FEDERAL POST

Battlefield Superintendent Will Not Be Named For Several Months.

COLONEL BARBER AMONG ELIGIBLE

Appointment of a superintendent for the Gettysburg National park is being delayed, the war department announced today, because almost all of the 60 applicants who qualified have taken appeals.

Colonel J. Frank Barber, who is acting superintendent of the park and who took the civil service examination several weeks ago, is included in the 60 men who qualified for the post.

Colonel Barber also filed an appeal and appeared before the board of appeals of the civil service commission, where he presented additional data.

Four hundred eighty-seven men took the examination. The appointment is based on the findings of the commission after all the examination papers have been corrected. Most of the 60 men who qualified, following later announcements, filed appeals and the commission granted each qualified applicant additional time to submit further information.

The board of appeals will have to consider this new data before Major General John L. DeWitt, quartermaster general, can make an appointment.

The Gettysburg post pays $3,600 a year, with a temporary reduction of $300.

Colonel E. E. Davis retired from the office last July.

It is said that several months will be required to hear all the appeals.

REV. H. P. BEAM URGES RETURN TO OLD GOSPEL

Declares Troubled Conditions Can Be Remedied By Christ Influence.

SAYS COURAGEOUS SPEAKING NEEDED

"If our troubled conditions in this present day are to be remedied, our gospel must possess the dynamic of the gospel of the first Christian century. We must insist upon the practice of the life and the spirit of Christ in every realm of human life," said the Rev. Herbert P. Beam, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, in his sermon Sunday morning.

His subject was, "The Gospel for Our Day," the text of which was taken from Mark 13:10, "and the Gospel must first be published among all nations."

"Today in the lives of a great many people, the gospel has become a weak and impotent thing," said the pastor. "Its dynamic power has become considerably obscured. They have toned it down and made it easy. They have narrowed it. Great hosts of people have made a toy out of Christ, its central figure. They have been playing with Christ and enjoying Him, but they have not been taking Him seriously in their actual living. Great numbers of people have been dealing with Christ in the same manner in which the child from time immemorial has dealt with its doll. They have been dissecting Christ, trying to find out what he is made of. Some insist that the dominating element in His nature is sawdust; others that it is plaster-paris; still others that it is lifeless metal. All of them have entirely missed the fact that He is a way of Life and a Spirit."

All-Inclusive Gospel
Continuing the Rev. Mr. Beam asserted, "The gospel for our age must possess the dynamic influence of the first century if it is to exert any appreciable influence in our day. If it is to do this, certain things are necessary. First, it must be published abroad as an all-inclusive thing. 'The gospel must first be published among all nations.' The life and the spirit of Christ must prevail everywhere. Christ did not entertain any idea at all of bringing abundant life to one nation." (Continued on Page Two)

LOCAL WOMEN ESCAPE FROM BURNING CAR

Machines Collide At Cross Keys And One Is Consumed By Flames.

MONEY, CLOTHES LOST IN BLAZE

A sedan-type automobile was destroyed by fire, together with all its contents, including two pocketbooks containing more than $90, and two women were slightly injured when two cars collided at the Cross Keys intersection, one mile east of New Oxford, Saturday evening at 5:45 o'clock.

G. Curtis Plank, 28, Steinwehr avenue, driver of the car which was destroyed by fire, and his brother, William Plank, succeeded in pulling their mother, Mrs. Walter Plank, and Mrs. Arthur H. Shields, also of Gettysburg, through the windshield, which the driver smashed with his hand, while flames started to consume the machine.

Minor Injuries
Both Mrs. Plank and Mrs. Shields were treated at the Warner hospital, Saturday evening. Each suffered minor injuries.

Plank was traveling west on the Lincoln highway, returning from a shopping trip to York. C. O. Thomas, 50, Biglerville R. 2, accompanied by his wife, was traveling north on the Carlisle road.

Thomas told Patrolman James G. Warren, of the local sub-station of the highway motor patrol, who investigated the crash, that he stopped before starting to cross the Lincoln highway. He said he looked in both directions and did not see any cars approaching.

Groceries Are Burned
The front end of the Thomas car struck the left side of Plank's machine, causing the latter to upset. The machine caught fire almost immediately. In the fire, Mrs. Plank lost a pocketbook containing about $40 and Mrs. Shields lost a pocketbook containing between $50 and $55. An overcoat and a quantity of groceries also were consumed.

The New Oxford fire company was called out, but the machine was beyond saving. The car was valued at $400.

Only minor damage was done to the Thomas car. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Thomas were injured.

Three Yorkers narrowly escaped death this morning shortly before 3 o'clock when the car in which they were riding caught fire on the Lincoln highway near Abbottstown. The Yorkers were John Heilig, Lester Long and Emma Uhler.

The girl, when the car caught on fire, kicked a glass window out and it was by this method that the three were able to escape from the car.

Heilig sustained a deep laceration on the left side of the neck; Long a small laceration over the chin, and Miss Uhler a deep laceration on the left leg that required several stitches to close. The injuries were sustained when they crawled through the window of the car.

A Gettysburg college student on his way to school from Philadelphia passed the scene and took the injured to the York hospital where they received treatment and were discharged.

The child was taken to the hospital from here. The operation was completed and the child and party returned within ten hours.

72ND CONGRESS OPENS AT NOON

Wet Vote Is Expected In House This Afternoon On Garner Resolution.

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Tense and grave under the mass of problems that confront it the 72nd congress today began its final session.

With a minimum of ceremony and an atmosphere of orderliness on the stroke of non staccato gavel raps by Vice President Curtis in the senate and Speaker Garner in the house signaled the beginning of the three months session.

Almost immediately the house confronted the prohibition issue—a resolution to submit straight out repeal of the 18th amendment to state conventions.

Packed galleries which had been filling since early morning looked down on both houses.

House seats were in most demand because of the heralded prohibition drama. The way was paved for this earlier in the morning by the decision of the republican wet block to support the speaker's resolution.

Members of this bloc predicted their decision would swing more than a hundred votes. Some democratic leaders were confident of sufficient support within their lines.

At the senate only formalities were observed with an early adjournment out of respect to the memory of the late Senators Jones, of Washington, and Charles Waterman, of Colorado, both republicans.

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—Senator-designate Walter Walker, ended an auto-air dash from Grand Junction, Colorado, to Washington at 10:52 today to take the oath and give the democrats of the senate a temporary plurality of one.

Walker made the 2,100 miles in 36 hours. The first leg of 390 miles over the continental divide was made over snow covered roads by automobile from his home in Denver. The rest of the trip was by plane. A tail wind enabled him to reach Washington 25 minutes ahead of schedule.

CONVICT 3 IN LODGE LOTTERY

Defendants In Eagles' Action Found Guilty By Jury Saturday Night.

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Conrad H. Mann, Kansas City business man, and two others who figured prominently in the drawing of tickets from red, white and blue barrels at benefits given by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, were convicted Saturday night of violating federal lottery laws.

The jury recommended leniency for Mann, Frank E. Hering, trustee of Notre Dame university, and Bernard C. McGuire, promoter. Raymond Walsh, McGuire's aide, was acquitted.

The verdict was a severe blow to the defendants. Even Louis Mead Treadwell, youthful prosecutor, said he supposed he was "a rotten prosecutor because I couldn't stand to watch what this did for Mann."

The verdict was returned after seven hours' deliberation, during which the jury twice came back to the courtroom for further instructions.

Mann is president of the Kansas City chapter of commerce, head of several business firms and a power in the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Specifically, the defendants were charged with shipping lottery tickets and causing them to be received in violation of interstate commerce and with conspiracy. The maximum sentence on both counts is three years imprisonment and $12,000 fine each.

Judge Frank J. Coleman deferred sentence and set next Thursday for the hearing of motions to set aside the verdict and for a new trial. Bail of $1,000 for each was continued.

Two Selected For Horseshoe Contest

S. Luther Baltzley, one of Adams county's commissioners, and James Kump, who works on Mr. Baltzley's farm, will represent Adams county in the farmers' horseshoe pitching contest at the State Farm Products' show in Harrisburg next month, as a result of winning a competitive tournament on the East Lincoln avenue courts, Saturday afternoon.

Each of the six contestants who participated in the elimination, Saturday afternoon, played every other contestant a 50-point game. The others who participated were Neely Clark, H. H. Beamer and Dean and Zack Ford.

Entries for the state competition must be in Harrisburg not later than December 15. The state tournament will be held on Thursday evening and Friday morning, January 19 and 20. Cash prizes of $25, $20, $10 and $5, with an additional prize of $20 to the state winner and a $5 consolation prize, will be awarded at the state show. Each player must provide his own horseshoes for the state competition.

Lack of Pinochle Players Sends Veteran, 90, to Soldiers' Home

Minneapolis, Dec. 5 (AP)—The younger generation, in fact, the three youngest generations, face another accusation today. They have failed to provide the world with enough "good, rough, tough" pinochle players.

Captain Charles Lockwood, 90, "last man" of the Last Man's club of civil war veterans, made the criticism. Lack of competition and an undersupply of skillful partners contributed to his decision to leave his home at Chamberlain, South Dakota, and enter the soldiers' home here.

He has found what he wants among men with memories of Gettysburg, Shiloh and Sherman's march to the sea. It may be a bit old-fashioned, but as far as the

JAPAN SEIZES NEW POSITION

Troops Occupy Strategic Rail- way Pass With Little Re- sistance From Enemy.

Tsitsihar, Manchuria, Dec. 5 (AP)—Japanese forces occupied the strategic Shedyin railway pass in the Kihing mountains Sunday and were vigorously pushing on toward Hailar, near the Soviet border, after putting Chinese rebels to rout.

Chinese resistance melted before the onslaught of their enemies, and it was understood Hailar was without defenders.

The rebels under General Su Ping-wen relinquished without a struggle the pass, which is equidistant from Tsitsihar and Hailar, although a handful of defenders could have withstood thousands of enemy troops.

Trains Speed Toward Hailar Japanese infantrymen late Sunday were speeding in armored trains toward Hailar, an important city on the Chinese Eastern railway, which they hoped to occupy today.

The Japanese column crossed the great Klingan Divide Saturday afternoon and continued without opposition down the western slope.

Bombing of Hailar from the air seemed thoroughly to have demoralized General Su's men, so that the Shedyin tunnel, a few miles west of Pukutu, easily fell into the hands of the Japanese.

Sunday the Japanese vanguard, a brigade of infantrymen, passed Irenute on the western slope of the mountains.

The steady, relentless Japanese advance continued day and night, despite a temperature of 40 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit).

Stunt Flyer Killed In Crash

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 5 (AP)—Frank J. Lynch, of Summit, New Jersey, was killed here Sunday as the specially built racing plane he was flying crashed into the roof of the main hangar at Bowles Agawam airport and was consumed by fire. Lynch's body was burned.

Witnesses said Lynch just missed hitting parked automobiles as the plane got off the ground and he apparently tried desperately to lift the plane over the hangar.

The craft, designed by Robert L. Hall, had been flown in the national air races in September by Lynch, although not entered in any events.

Lynch was 43 and had been a former movie stunt pilot on the west coast. In the world war he was an army instructor. He leaves a widow and two children.

AUTHOR INVITES VILLAGE TO SEE FILM OF HIS NOVEL

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Ernest Hemingway is having a great time hunting in Arkansas, so Piggott, and not Broadway, will see the world premiere of the picturization of his novel, "A Farewell to Arms."

To enable Hemingway to see the film first, the Broadway opening was set back a day and a print of the picture rushed to the Arkansas village. Hemingway and his wife have invited the whole town.

Il Duce Gives $100,000 in Prizes To Farmers in Battle of Wheat

Rome, Dec. 5 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, who has undertaken to make Italy grow her own bread, gave about $100,000 in prizes and many words of high praise Sunday to those whom he has led for seven years in his battle of wheat.

Farmers from every province assembled in the decennial agricultural exposition hall to get their reward for the increased production which this year came within eight per cent of the country's normal consumption of 300,000,000 bushels.

This was the tenth annual contest initiated with the Duce's support, and unofficially backed by his newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia. It was in 1925 that Mussolini took over the job himself and announced formally in the chamber that he would lead the fight.

Italy's pre-war production was 15.2 bushels an acre. It now is 21.5. Acreage has been increased somewhat, partly through the big reclamation project of the fascist government, but chiefly by teaching farmers how to get a heavier yield. Involved in the battle have been many agricultural reforms and methods of state aid such as financing tenant farmers and even big proprietors, aid in building silos and elevators, organization of cooperative marketing societies, instruction through traveling agricultural schools and visiting experts and wider use of fertilizers.

Both a high tariff and severe milling restrictions have been utilized to reduce imports. Wheat in Italy for a long time has sold close to $1.50 a bushel, about three times the world price. Even at that high figure the Italian wheat grower has not prospered greatly and during the past year much government aid and direction were necessary to keep the market steady.

Definite percentages of domestic wheat were ordered used in flour, varying in different districts and for different uses, to control both imports and to prevent wheat stocks from being dumped on the market.

Strike Leaders Kidnap, Beaten And Painted Red

Vacaville, Calif., Dec. 5 (AP)—Six reputed leaders of a strike which has disrupted grape picking in Vacaville were kidnapped from Vacaville jail early today, whisked away in automobiles and reported painted red, beaten and told never to return to this vicinity.

The men were among fifteen persons arrested during a clash in front of the public library Sunday. Police estimated 1,000 persons participated in the fray when townsmen broke up a parade of 150 striking fruit workers who are demanding a wage of $1.50 a day.

The six were taken from jail by a group of men who drove rapidly into the country in seven automobiles warning others not to follow. After a prolonged search for the party which he "guessed" was made up of irate town people and farmers Police Chief O. E. Alley said he understood the erstwhile prisoners had been turned loose ten miles in the country and their captors had returned home.

Reports reaching Chief Alley were that the asserted leaders had part of their hair cut off, painted red, beaten and sent off in pairs and warned not to return.

Former Ku Klux Head Is Denied Prison Liberty

South Bend, Dec. 5 (AP)—Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick today denied the petition of D. C. Stephenson, former Indiana dragon of the Ku Klux Klan for a writ of habeas corpus which would have freed him from the term of life sentence he is now serving in state prison for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer, of Indiana, in 1925.

tion or group at the expense of all the rest. All are to rise together. The gospel for our day which will be effective will be proclaimed in such a way as to include all of life. "Finally, the gospel for our day, if it is to be felt at all in the life of our time, must be more courageously preached and more heroically lived. The present day Christian, who because of his devotion to Christ, decides on a course of opposition to present day evils and injustices in the life of society and the state, might just as well make up his mind that sooner or later he will find many difficulties and hardships deliberately put in his way by those who support the evils. Many Christians when they have faced these difficulties have weakly surrendered. It has not always been laymen who have surrendered either. If the gospel is to make much of a change in our times, there must be a more courageous proclamation of it, both by precept and example."

Germany's New Cabinet Formed

Berlin, Dec. 5 (AP)—The conciliation cabinet, completed Sunday by Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher, contains only one minister who was not a member of Franz von Papen's cabinet, which resigned last month.

Dr. Herman Warmbold, who will represent Germany in the world economic conference next spring, Sunday was reappointed minister of economics and Baron Friedrich Edler von Braun was again given the portfolio of minister for agriculture and eastern relief, which he held in Von Papen's ministry.

The only new man in Von Schleicher's cabinet is Dr. Friedrich Syrup, minister of labor, who is president of the federal labor exchange.

Retention of Dr. Warmbold was taken as an indication that the new chancellor, who was regarded as the power behind the Von Papen government, was ready to abandon the Von Papen policy of quotas—a proposal for the limitation of imports.

While Chancellor von Schleicher's avowed aim was to form a government of conciliation, domestic problems of the last fortnight are not entirely dissipated, for Adolf Hitler, leader of the nazis, had declared that his national socialists, controllers of the largest single bloc in the Reichstag, would not cooperate with Von Schleicher's government.

POLICE BOTTLE UP "MARCHERS"

Washington Blue Coats Keep Group In Pavement Camp, In Outskirts.

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—As congress met today in a heavily guarded capital the army of demonstrators who descended upon the city last night were still bottled up by blue coats on a stretch of pavement in the outskirts.

Fretting and fuming under police restraint, the motley throng once drew up in marching order, took up a long red banner headed for the solid line of police.

But when the blue ranks tightened to meet them the leaders turned aside and cheered the police for their precaution.

Lawyers representing the marchers made little headway in efforts to invoke the law as a means of releasing the group from its pavement camp and permitting the demonstrators to march to the capitol in accordance with their plan to demand $550 each and enactment of unemployment insurance.

Just before noon, the hour for congress to convene, upwards of 150 more police appeared at the camp, apparently to block any effort to rush the line. There were some 300 armed police on hand confronting the marchers, estimated at 2,500 or so.

Because of the possibility that the demonstrators might march on the capitol, the building was closed to the public. The sightseeing companies were told they could not show crowds through the capitol as usual. Sight-seeing buses were also barred from the grounds and iron doors at the entrances were closed.

Police kept cleared the center of the plaza on the east side and were ordered to keep it clear through tomorrow.

Robbers Lock Four Clerks In Cellar And Get $1,076 Loot

Norristown, Dec. 5 (AP)—Three unmasked bandits entered a drug store early Sunday, in the heart of Norristown, imprisoned the manager and clerks in the cellar, and fled with $1,076 in cash.

The men worked swiftly and without attracting attention from the street. The manager, Joseph R. Sandler, of Norristown, and his clerks, Abram Roseman, Harry Shefter and Herman Kiel, all of Philadelphia, were cowed by pistols in the hands of two of the men, while the third gathered up all the cash in the place.

A total of $1,017 was taken from several drawers. Then the employees were herded into the cellar, where the bandits took $59 from Sandler's pockets.

The men in the store were locked in a closet, and, after locking the front doors of the place, the bandits fled, through the rear, entering a car, which sped away.

The employees' shouts eventually attracted the attention of a policeman, who forced entrance to the place and liberated them. No trace of the robbers' car could be found.

A Path To Paradise

By Coningsby Dawson

SYNOPSIS: Goaded beyond bearing by his wife Santa's attempt to "reform" her former husband, Dicky, Clive conspires with a show-bill friend of Dicky's to break up the situation. Lou-Lou is eager to help. Then Clive goes home, and does not, to his surprise, find Dicky there.

Chapter 43 BEAUTY IN TEARS

Clive reached home prepared for anything. He was agreeably surprised. One light was burning to welcome him in the hall; the rest of the apartment was in darkness. Glancing into the drawing-room, he guessed the length of Dicky's stay by the mound of cigarettes.

He felt the handle of his bedroom. The door yielded. He was tiptoeing to the bathroom where he planned to undress, when Santa stirred. "I'm awake. You're not disturbing me."

Without waiting for him to switch on the light, she pulled the chain of her lamp.

"My dearest," he exclaimed, "your eyes are red. You've been crying." "Dicky's been so rotten," she began to weep.

Clive gathered her to him. "What did you expect? You're the last person in the world to be able to change him. A woman who hadn't been married to him might."

"But no nice woman would want him the way he is, Clive," she wailed. "That's the tragedy." "If you're asking my advice, you must place your cards on the table," she hesitated.

"He's been lying to me. I'm certain he hasn't broken away from his bad habits. He's been pretending, because it amuses him to have me preach to him. I accused him this evening."

"How could you accuse him, old girl if you have no proofs?"

"You don't need proofs to accuse anybody. I mentioned Lou-Lou and chorus-girls. I told him that if he refused to become decent, I was through with him."

"To which he replied?" Clive questioned.

"Nothing." She began to weep again. "That's what's so dreadful. Perhaps he has been trying and I've misjudged him."

"You've not misjudged him," Clive comforted her. "If you gave him his choice to be decent or to get out, were rid of him. Dicky's the kind who can't be decent."

Next evening Dicky presented himself with the solemn expression of one who had hit the saw-dust trail. He begged the favor of a conference with Clive and Santa.

"I'm humble," he hung his head. "Santa's instinct was right. I have had dealings with one woman—Lou-Lou. Today I've sacked her." He raised clear, virtuous eyes. "At last I'm worthy of your friendship."

Clive excused himself. From his library he telephoned the theater and left a message. Then pretended to work, consulting his watch from time to time, while the murmur of earnestly conversing voices drifted to him from the drawing-room.

At some minutes past eleven the door-bell rang.

"I'll answer it," he called. As Lou-Lou entered, he whispered, "They're all set. Make the show-down convincing. Don't spare me."

She pressed his hand as she swept by him.

"Hello, you bums!" She peered into the drawing-room.

Then focusing on Santa, "Gee baby face, you're a false one! Didn't want him when he was yours and now won't let me have him. One husband isn't enough. You're pure."

For the sake of dramatic effect Clive checked her.

"Excuse me, you're speaking to my wife."

"Is that so?" Lou-Lou swung round and surveyed him. "You're a dandy husband—a regular prize-fighter. How much does my man pay you to keep your fists off him?"

Dicky was the last to catch her attention.

"Come here—you," she commanded.

"My dear Lou-Lou," he protested. As he approached, she caught him a resounding smack across his handsome face.

"That's how dear I am to you. Thought you could gyp me, did you, and that I'd make no scandal? You're coming home, you piker."

Dicky bowed.

"Anything to stop this unseemly row," he apologized.

The door closed behind them. Clive stared at Santa.

"There's a woman in a thousand. Whatever her morals, she can tell the truth. I'm a boob. You're loose-minded. We're a pretty pair." Santa flung herself into his arms.

"Darling, I've been a fool. No—don't kiss me. I wish you'd strike me."

They supposed that Dicky's intrusions were ended. Next evening, with his accustomed assurance, he called again. Santa opened to him. He began at once to proffer his excuses. When prodigals forsook the swine of the Far Country, farewells were inevitable. What could one expect from a girl of Lou-Lou's vulgarity?

At that moment Clive joined Santa. Seizing Dicky by the scruff of the neck, he flung him like a sack into the passage. From across the threshold he addressed him.

"If ever you attempt to communicate with my wife, I won't be responsible for what I'll do."

Picking himself up, Dicky delivered his Parthian shot.

"That my wife stuff sounds fine. But Santa was my wife before she was yours, allow me to remind you."

Breathing heavily, Clive slammed the door and listened to the departing footsteps of his enemy.

To postpone having to face Santa, he peered into the passage. Dicky had vanished. "Clive was nervous as to the extent of the damage he had done him. He pressed the button for the elevator and asked the boy in charge whether a gentleman had recently descended. On being answered in the affirmative he enquired, "Did he seem O. K.?"

The boy grinned.

"Some guy had landed him a peach of a smash on the forehead."

"But apart from that?"

"From his neck down he was jake. If you was the guy, sir, who patted him, you did a swell job."

Clive slipped a dollar-bill into the lad's hand—the reward of admiration.

WINGS BATTLE HERE TONIGHT

Local Cage Outfit Engages Scrappy Baltimore Five In Hotel Gymnasium.

Another busy evening is booked for the Fleet-Wing basketeers tonight when the St. Bernard's Catholic club of Baltimore makes its initial appearance on the local floor.

Composed of a fine array of ex-college dribblers, the Marylanders boast of an unusually strong quintet. Snappy passers, deadly shooters and an excellent defensive outfit, the visitors promise to give the local fans a fine brand of basketball.

Foremost in the St. Bernard lineup is Joe Driesch, leading scorer in the Baltimore Catholic league last season. Al Strigle, center on the St. Wenceslaus club last season, and Johnny Mahon, of the same club, are two new members on the St. Bernard club. Johnny and Frank Williams, former West Virginia Wesleyan court luminaries; Ed Russell, of the Johns Hopkins team of last season; Al Ahearn, of Loyola, and "Reds" Duval, round out the squad.

The Wings have been working out regularly and are fast approaching top notch form. Captain Lou Reilly may be forced to take the bench as the result of wrenching his back during practice last week. The remainder of the lineup will be intact with H. Bream, G. Bream, Albright, Buehler, Buohl and Witmer ready for action.

The newly-formed Adams county independent league will open tonight with the Varsity All Stars clashing with Littlestown at 7:15 o'clock. All league games will be played as preliminary games to the Fleet-Wing tilts.

Hollywood Sights & Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—There are some expensive faces on the cutting room floor these days, perhaps the natural outcome of the desire to put "name players" even in minor roles in pictures. Skeets Gallagher played a comedy bit in "The Conquerors" and is listed in the cast—or was—but no Skeets appears.

If you have good eyes and are quick, you may catch a glimpse of him in a line of soldiers on parade—he's the chubby-cheeked fellow next to Richard Dix, the star.

Pat O'Malley had a few of us over the other evening to inspect his latest achievement—a one-room brick cabin he constructed himself in his backyard for a total cost of $8. It's a cozy spot, with high beamed ceiling, big open fireplace, and an air of old-fashioned comfort.

No Time To Finish It

He began it some six months ago, to occupy his time while picture parts were slow in coming. Friends contributed old bricks, he got others from wrecked buildings, and other cast-off materials challenged his ingenuity to be included. It isn't quite finished yet, and—testimonial to his sudden come-back in film favor—he doesn't know when he'll have time to do it.

The tin roof, by the way, was formerly a 24-sheet billboard for a real estate subdivision.

"No, I haven't any qualms of conscience about it," he commented. "You see, the company has folded anyway."

Southern California's outdoor life can be over-rated, Heeln Vinson learned. In New York Helen rode horseback regularly during her theatrical career, but in Hollywood she hasn't had time. And until recently, when one scene called for her to ride a horse in "Lawyer Man," she didn't get to ride even at work.

Thai Type Bogey

Hard as it is to believe, William Haines broke from type in films—once upon a time. He started, you may remember, in the "bashful boy" role made famous by Charles Ray, and fans didn't hesitate to accuse him of imitation.

Just for a change, Haines began wisecracking in "Slide, Kelly, Slide"—and ever since has been trying, in vain, to get out of the flippant mood.

Hollywood.—"I'm not long for this world," announced Robert Montgomery smilingly, attacking a hearty slice of apple pie which had been preceded by two chicken sandwiches and a bottle of milk, his noontime snack.

The remark had application not to any disastrous results that might be expected from his speedy surmounting of the repast, but to the world that is Hollywood and its studios—and a world, Montgomery inferred, which he daily finds more stale and flat if not unprofitable.

After four years in pictures, the last two as a star or co-star with the outstanding feminine lights at M-G-M, Montgomery wants to get back to the stage, the sooner the better.

"You may not believe it," he said, "but I'm actually hoping my contract won't be renewed next option time. In fact, I'm praying it won't."

Still Has His Grin

was there as he talked about his objections to pictures, making it apparent he isn't losing his sense of humor.

"I can find what I want on the stage," he said, "and I don't think I ever shall in pictures."

Helen Hayes has a plan to offer Bob with herself in a New York production or two in the spring, and Montgomery is banking his hopes on the fruition of the scheme. His part in it will depend on a vacation from the studio and its permission.

He seems to be sincere in his stage urge. From another source I learned that when the salary cuts of 35 per cent were going into effect, Montgomery offered to take one of 50 per cent provided he would be given half his time to use in the theatre. The studio refused.

Only One Lon Chaney

Incidentally, Montgomery told me an anecdote he plans to delay to Fredric March, academy award winner, at the first opportunity.

A chatty manfurst on the home-ward boat from Honolulu, where Montgomery went on location for his current "Pigboats," was telling him his preferences in pictures as she trimmed his nails.

"I don't see many films," she said, "but I'm critical. I saw 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde' the last time I was in 'Srisco. This Fredric March is good, all right—but I don't think anybody'll ever take Lon Chaney's place!"

Senator Davis Plans Long Rest

Pittsburgh, Dec. 5 (AP)—Senator James J. Davis will be unable to attend many meetings of the short session of congress and probably will not personally cast his vote on the prohibition question should it come up before January 1.

A Pittsburgh newspaper says he will be paired, however, on the question and will thus throw his support to repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of the Volstead act.

Senator Davis is planning an extended stay in the Battle Creek sanitarium, the newspaper says, the duration depending on when he is called for retrial on charges of participating in an alleged lottery. Should the trial be put off until after January 1, it is said, the senator will undergo an operation in the near future.

BANDIT'S CRASH CAR IN SUNDAY CHASE

Philadelphia, Dec. 5.—After a wild chase in central-city streets early Sunday, with police shooting to halt them, two men crashed the automobile of Joseph N. Susskind, manufacturer, into a pole at 13th and Arch streets.

Shortly before, the men, one armed with a revolver, had entered a garage near 57th and Chestnut streets, and stole Susskind's car after threatening to kill two attendants if they attempted to interfere.

The men escaped after the crash. Police reported they had taken gasoline at a garage near 33d and Berks streets, after the car theft, departing without paying. It was also reported that after making their escape on foot from 13th and Arch streets they stole another car in that vicinity.

To remove tar or grease stains from white goods, rub them with laundry soap and pour boiling water through them.

"OLD GRADS" ARE DUBIOUS ON RENAMING COLLEGE

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma A. and M. undergraduates want to change their alma mater's name, but the "old grads" aren't so sure.

After students had approached state board of agriculture members with a proposal to make it "Oklahoma state college," the former students' association passed a resolution urging that no further agitation be attempted until they had polled their members.

The undergraduates say "agricultural and mechanical" isn't representative of the school.

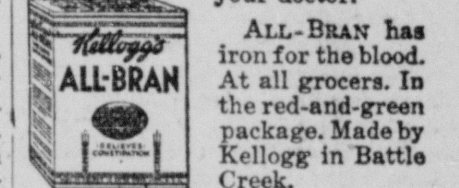

Everybody has days when every waking hour is packed with zest of living. Why not make every day like this?

A frequent drawback to fitness is constipation. It may dull your energy, steal your appetite, lower your vitality. Yet it is so easy to overcome.

Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote appetite, and tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. How much less than taking patent medicines—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

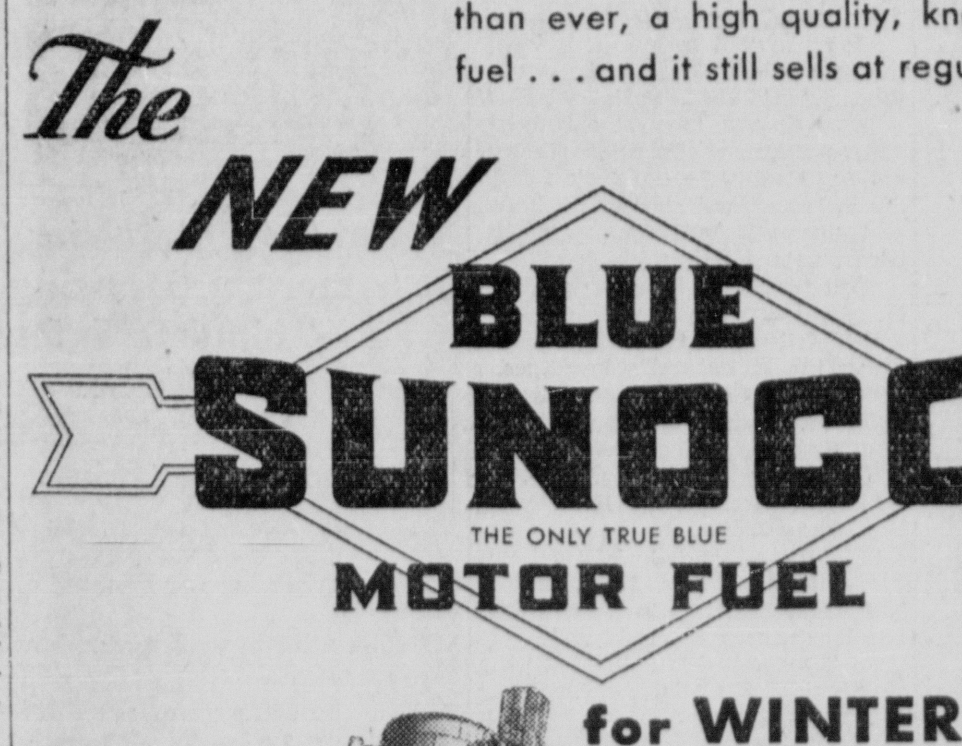

HELPS KEEP YOU FIT

ALL-BRAN has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Ill-fated Buffalo!—By a slip from the office of the Buffalo Journal, we learn with sorrow that this ill-fated place has again been burned to the ground. The loss of property is immense, and the condition of the sufferers at the inclement season of the year calls for the exercise of that characteristic benevolence which is characteristic of the American people. We recognize the names of many of our friends and acquaintances, who have suffered largely.

Buffalo was burned by the British during the late war. It was again rebuilt but nearly burnt down three years ago. Situated upon Lake Erie, it has grown into a flourishing city within a few years.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The Depots Fixed.—On Saturday last, the directors of the Gettysburg railroad determined on the location of the depots in this place. The passenger depot is to be on the lot of George W. McClellan, southeast corner of Carlisle and Railroad streets, and the freight depot on the ground of Messrs. Doersom and Codori, near where Stratton street intersects the railroad. Rails are to be laid from Carlisle street to Washington street, to accommodate business men in that portion of the town.

The furnace in the jail, having proved entirely inadequate to heat the building, the commissioners have, by recommendation of the grand jury, contracted for a new one with Mr. Wantz, of York, to cost about $150.

Property Sold.—Jonathan Baldwin has sold his farm of 41 acres in Mountpleasant township to Isaac
Miller for $1000.

Michael Fisel, executor of Hannah Fisel, sold at public sale, on Thursday week, the property of said deceased, in Cumberland township—
50 acres at $33 per acre. Jeremiah Sheets purchaser.

Samuel Herbst has sold his dwelling at the lower end of Chambersburg street, to his mother for $775—he reserving the vacant half lot adjoining.

Messrs. Joel B. Danner and George
Chritzman, assignees of John Chritzman, recently sold one of the houses of said assignor in Chambersburg street (now occupied by the Messrs. Neinstedt) to Rev. Dr.
Schaeffer, for $1800. Also the property of John Chritzman on High street, to Rev. Michael Bushman, for $850.

The property of Mr. Chritzman, adjoining that purchased by Doctor Schaeffer, was on Saturday sold to Matthew Eichelberger for $1600
cash.

John Butt, Sr., has sold his property, on which he resides in Cumberland township, 4 acres, with house and stable, to Mary Johns for $700 cash.

John Eckenrode has sold his farm on the Mummaburg road, 3 miles from this place, to Jacob Eckenrode for $2000 cash.

of this borough, aged 86 years.

of this place, aged 71 years.
On the 16th ult., Hester Johns, aged 47 years.

of her age.

Maria, widow of Abraham Guise, of Butler township, aged 85 years.

consumption, at the residence of the Rev. A. O. Halsey, in Bucks county, Pa., Harvey W. Adair, son of John Adair, Sr., of this place, in the 36th year of his age.

On the 30th ult., Mrs. Catharine Lower, wife of Conrad Lower, deceased, of Franklin township, aged 86 years.

On Friday last, we had the gratification of listening to an eloquent discourse in the Presbyterian church by that aged and respected divine, Rev. R. N. Grier, who has for nearly half a century ministered to the Presbyterian congregations of Emmitsburg and Piney Creek. We were rejoiced to find no diminution either in his physical or mental vigor, and never have listened to him, in years long past, with more satisfaction.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FOR LACK OF UNDERSTANDING

THE plucky, "gallant little colony" of Louisiana was sold to the United States by Napoleon at a price of four cents an acre! The shadows of romance and splendor still linger about the streets of the French section of New Orleans. More than in any other section of any city in America, do I love to roam and dream there!

Probably for no other valid reason was this rich and interesting colony sold than—for lack of understanding on the part of the mother nation. How many boys and girls have left home to face a mysterious world, for no other reason. How many of our friendships are broken, and homes as well.

The thing that makes the life of Christ so fascinating a study is that he always seemed to understand. Take the instance of the woman at the well, of the rich young ruler, of his friends, Mary and Martha, the little fellow who climbed a tree that he might get a look at this Teacher as he passed through his town—little Zachaeus. Christ even understood Judas, his betrayer.

Our bitterest critic, or enemy, would be our friend did we but understand him. There would be no hate in the world, if there could be only perfect understanding. And war would be at an end forever.

We say mean things and send cruel darts into people's hearts—for lack of understanding.

A mother understands her child better than anyone else on earth. She will overlook everything, excuse everything—and keep right on loving. That's what makes mothers the greatest figures on earth! They understand.

You have to be a pioneer in order to understand a pioneer, and you have to be a workman in order to understand one. Understanding, somehow, is catching up with the harmonious tune of the universe. It's ap- plauding the piccolo player in the orchestra as well as the one who plays the bass drum, and then giving credit to the one who wields the baton for producing a harmonious whole.

For lack of understanding we cheat happiness and turn it from us. We have to understand in order to gain love, and when we have gained that, we are happy!

SANTA and the MAGIC DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

Chapter I

THE UGLY PINOCCHIO

Once upon a time long ago there was a very lazy, young Gnome who worked in Santa Claus' Toyshop up near the North Pole.

He was supposed to carve out beautiful wooden soldiers and then paint their pretty red suits. But instead he played all day with the soldiers' tiny guns and swords.

On day he had been particularly lazy. He hadn't carved out one single soldier. And then he suddenly saw Santa coming toward him.

He snatched up a knife and a piece of wood and carved so fast that he almost had a complete sol- dier in a twinkling. But just then his knife slipped. He was making the poor soldier's face. He made a tiny little head and great big nose, and the poor little soldier doll looked so terrible that the Gnome just knew Santa wouldn't permit him in any infantry at all.

And there was nothing he could do about it. Once a doll is made, he can't be broken or remodeled. So there he was. And the minute the Gnome had finished him, the doll jumped up on the workshop table and began to shout:

"Look what you've done! You've made me so homely nobody will want me. Look at that nose. I can hardly see over it." And the poor little fellow covered his face with bony, little hands and wept so that Santa came running down the toyshop rooin.

When Santa saw what the Gnome had done he shook his head gravely. But Santa had a remedy for every- thing. He knew how to make the weeping doll dry his tears.

"But you will mean more to us than a whole company of handsome soldiers," said Santa to the doll.

"How do you mean?" asked the doll so surprised that he stopped crying. Really, he did look funny. His little body was so thin, his knees and elbows looked bumpy and his nose was longer than his head.

"Call my Funny Man," cried Santa. And soon the merriest looking little fellow came hippety-hop across the tables and stopped right next to the long-nosed doll.

"Funny Man, have you got one of those little luck coins in your pocket?" asked Santa.

"Yes s-i-l-l-r! Here it is," said the Funny Man.

"Give it to this doll. We will call him Pinocchio, the Clown, and it will be his good luck to make every- one laugh, even the saddest."

So the funny Man handed the weeping doll the coin, and Pinocchio—because that's what we will call him now—put it in his little coat pocket.

"Now do a dance," Santa com- manded.

And Pinocchio took a few fancy steps. But he was so thin that he looked as though he were tying himself in a knot.

"Ho-ho-ho and ha-ha-ha!" shout- ed the whole toyshop. The dolls and the fairies all crowded around just shouting with laughter.

Pinocchio liked that and he laughed and laughed and danced faster and faster until he couldn't dance any more.

"No," said Santa, turning to the Gnome. "You have made a mistake. In payment you must create the most beautiful doll in the shop, or I will banish you to the Ice King- dom."

So the Gnome set to work.

AUSTRALIA COURT HOLDS RADIO LIBEL IMPOSSIBLE

Melbourne (AP)—A person can- not be libelled over the air in Aus- tralia, but he can be slandered.

This is the effect of a decision by the Victoria Full Court, dismissing an appeal by Max Meldrum, artist, who sued for $10,000 damages from the Australian Broadcasting com- pany.

The Full Court held that it was not possible for anyone to be li- belled by wireless broadcast, and that aggrieved persons were re- stricted to actions for slander.

NEW MAP of ADAMS COUNTY AVAILABLE; FIRST in YEARS

Unusual Interesting Information In Com- mercial Drawing, Showing Many Things Of Interest, Particularly To School Children.

For the first time in years, a new commercial MAP OF ADAMS county has been made by a Washington map concern and a limited number of copies are available for general distribution.

It is a large wall map, showing many things of interest, and ought to be on the wall of every public school building, and would be an item of education for every home.

Cooperating with the Gettysburg public school authori- ties and other public institutions and individuals eager to obtain a new map of the county, The Get- tysburg Times purchased a number of the NEW MAPS in order to guarantee the makers a sale of a sufficient number to justify them in proceeding with the work of making the map.

While The Times can readily use several of these maps for information purposes of its workers, there are a number remaining that will be sold to those de- siring them at the actual price paid the map makers for them of $4.50. Of course, additional maps can be made from the original print, if the demand for them exceeds the limited supply on hand, but that will require some time and those available will be given to those first calling for them.

Whether you want to buy a map or not, you will be in- terested in looking over one of them which has been hung in the office of The Gettysburg Times and you are invited to call and inspect it at your conveni- ence, without any obligation to purchase one of the maps.

THE WAY OF ROBINS

I wonder if the mother robin dreads the coming day

When she must tell her babies from the nest to fly away.

I wonder if the father robin worries when they go

To battle in the world themselves—but that we'll never know.

I've watched them in the springtime teach their little ones to fly.

I've known the day was coming when they'd say to them: goodbye.

And I've wondered if the mother didn't wish they'd stay about

So she could still assist them when the father turned them out.

The robins guard their children while they're young and very small.

The mother hovers near them just to answer every call.

But feathered and full-grown at last, their time of training through.

They must work for food and shelter as their parents had to do.

I've watched the parent robins teach their little ones to fly.

I've watched them drive them from the nest and often wondered why.

But robins have no money and no stocks and bonds to leave,

And so they have to teach their young to struggle and achieve.

Rub the hands with lard to re- move paint stains.

To PREVENT many colds...

VICKS Nose & Throat DROPS

To END it sooner

Vicks Colds-Control Plan was introduced last winter, along with the new aid in preventing colds—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. This new formula is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, standby of mothers for two generations in treating colds—externally.

Together with certain simple rules of health, these preparations form Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds. How you can follow it in your home is fully explained in each Vicks package.

BRIEFLY, HOW VICKS PLAN WORKS

When colds threaten—At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation—Nature's usual signal that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose Drops at once! They soothe the irritation and aid Nature's functions in throwing off the infection that threatens. They prevent development of many colds.

Stick To Office

Australian State's Solons Fail To Abolish Jobs.

Sydney (AP)—All attempts by electors of New South Wales to abolish their upper house of parliament—the legislative council—have only resulted in increasing the number of the members of that chamber.

For years batches of men, pledged to vote for abolition of the chamber, have been installed as legislative councillors. But most of them have changed their views and the chamber has continued.

There are now 123 members, all with gold passes for free travelling anywhere in Australia and other desirable privileges.

The politicians will neither dismiss themselves from office nor give the electors a chance to act.

ZEPPELIN TERMINAL PLANNED BY ECKENER

Rio De Janeiro (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, hopes to make Rio de Janeiro the terminus of regular dirigible service between Germany and South America, he announced here.

Negotiations for formation of a subsidiary company to build hangars and a mooring mast are under way.

Pernambuco, a thousand miles north of Rio, is the present terminus for most voyages of the Graf, but Eckener prefers Rio because it offers direct airplane transportation to Buenos Aires, and communication with Chile and Peru by way of Bolivia.

FRANK WILTON GIVES MIAMI FIRST BUCKEYE GRID TITLE

Oxford, O. (AP)—Coaches in the Buckeye conference recognize the merits of the Notre Dame system of football, but they wish to be delivered from the Wilton-Warner system.

Frank Wilton, master mind at Little Miami university, is the "baby coach" of the conference, having taken over his duties there only this year, but already he has led the Big Red team to a championship, its very first.

Now the conference, which boasts such stalwarts as Ohio university, four-times champion and conqueror of the Navy this year, and Ohio Wesleyan, victor over Syracuse this year, is ringing with praise of the "Miracle Man."

Wilton, a Warner understudy from the Pacific coast, led the Big Red to victories over both of them and has nailed his colors to the conference flagpole. It was the first victory Miami has enjoyed over Ohio Wesleyan since 1927.

Wilton comes from a family of halfbacks—among them his father who teamed with Walter Eckersall —and is one of the youngest men in the country.

He starred at Stanford under "Pop" Warner. After two years of prep school coaching, he returned to his alma mater as Warner's assistant.

Despite this record, traditional champions of the Buckeye conference paid little attention to little Miami until Wilton's charges uncorked a dazzling assortment of Warner tricks that kept their opponents hunting the ball most of the Saturday afternoons.

The Miami stride increased game by game. The "baby coach" has given Miami a championship his first year in the conference.

PAINS VANISHED QUICKLY AFTER ADAMS CO. MATRON TAKES NATEX

Trouble in Stomach Had Caused Much Suffering, Appetite Gone, and Entire System Rundown in General. Feels Wonderful Now.

Mrs. Hays Groft

never a thought of trouble afterwards and the pains in my back have disappeared. I no longer suffer with those dreadful headaches as my bowels are now normal and Natex cleansed my system thoroughly. I awoke every morning full of pep and vitality and ready for my duties of the day. I feel so much better in every way that I would be selfish not to tell others about the wonderful benefits of Natex."

"Before I started taking Natex I had suffered dreadfully with pains in my stomach, especially right after eating. The pains were so severe that I was almost afraid to eat a thing. It seemed like everything I ate caused me indigestion and dyspepsia and my heart would pound so hard that I could barely breathe.

"Besides all this, I suffered with splitting headaches which were probably due to faulty elimination as my bowels had been constipated for a long time. I often had pains in my back and my health in general was so badly rundown that I was usually tired and listless and had hardly enough energy to do a thing.

"I had often read in the paper how Natex had helped first this person and then another and so on day after day, and I wondered if it would help me. I made up my mind to give it a trial. You can imagine my amazement when my condition started to respond to treatment almost immediately, and now after taking three bottles of Natex, I am in excellent health again. I eat three nice meals every day with

Make Child Earn It, Then Give Him Praise, Specialist

Ames, Iowa (AP)—New ideas, says Alma H. Jones, child specialist in the Iowa State college extension service, have supplanted some old notions regarding praise in child guidance.

Here are her four principles about praising children:

Commendation for worthy effort should be recognized as a strong incentive to promote good conduct.

STUDENTS HOLD 30 CREEDS

New York (AP)—The student body of the Biblical seminary in New York, which recently opened its thirty-third year, includes representatives of 30 denominations, 26 states, nine foreign countries, 68 colleges, 20 universities, and 13 seminaries. Of the 148 students registered, all but 11 have one or more academic degrees.

The child must earn praise through effort or self-sacrifice. He must learn to enjoy praising others who deserve it, and to show enthusiasm for the successes of others.

Every child should be given an opportunity to earn praise in matters requiring care and effort, and their worthiness for more difficult tasks should be noted.

Smaller and less able children should share with older and abler children the opportunities for deserved recognition.

THIS CHRISTMAS I'D LIKE AN ELECTRIC WASHER

if it's a Maytag

"I never even thought of home washing before. But I've seen how easy it is to wash in a Maytag. And it seems silly to pay someone else to do such light work."

But don't confuse "buying a washer" with investing in a Maytag. A Maytag washes clothes cleaner...faster...with less work...less wear and tear on clothes...and keeps on doing that for more years. It represents a permanent investment in household equipment and in actual dollars and cents savings.

Certainly a washer is an appropriate gift—if it's a Maytag. Come in and let us demonstrate and talk terms.

SOVIET ACTS TO HALT HOARDING OF GRAIN

Moscow, Dec. 5 (AP)—A sharp warning to peasants against grain hoarding was issued Sunday by the two most powerful soviet newspapers, Izvestia and Pravda, simultaneously with revelation of stiff sentences meted out to a Kulak for slaying a government grain collector.

The Kulak, or wealthy farmer, was sentenced to death and his wife to ten years' imprisonment for the killing. The government agent went to the village Belokolodsk in Moscow province to seize grain the Kulak owed the government. The latter attacked the president of the village soviet and shot the agent. A village doctor who refused to treat the wounded official was sentenced to ten years in prison.

The newspapers took cognizance of the possibility of widespread hoarding, in leading editorials.

MOTORIST DIES IN CRASH; FATHER, BROTHER HURT

Bloomburg, Dec. 5. — Norman Russell, 25, of Wilkes-Barre, was fatally injured at midnight when his automobile collided with that of A. B. Kline, of Rohrsburg, near Huntington Mills.

Russell's car was upset in the wreck, and his father, George Russell, and his brother, H. G. Russell, of Plainos, suffered injuries.

Kline was arrested on charges of manslaughter and driving while intoxicated. Constable Holmes, of Huntington township, said that Kline knew nothing of the accident until told about it Sunday morning in the lockup.

"When making fruit cake, pour 1-3 the batter in the pan and then add part of the fruit, add more batter and the rest of the fruit. This will aid in preventing the fruit from going to the bottom of the pan."

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

Jack Moakley, Cornell's veteran track coach, thinks the metric standard newly adopted for this country by the A. A. U. will lead to considerable confusion, especially in schoolboy ranks, and that some falling off in interest may result. But it seems to me the radical character of the change itself will react to the benefit of American track and field sports.

Nothing arouses youthful interest in these events so much as the Olympics, which glorify the sprinter, the distance runner and the weight tosser. In an Olympic year track and field sports get more publicity than in the preceding three, all over the world.

Since all the Olympic footraces are at the metric distances, readjustments for the time being are necessary, for the American athletes as well as their followers, accustomed to yards and meters and kilometers.

Under such conditions a world standard is not only desirable and sensible but likely to have a stimulating effect. The readjustment of ideas and arrangements would not be so great as is required almost annually, for example, in college football with its ever-shifting regulations.

Furthermore, it would obviate the necessity of re-measuring the big college tracks every four years for Olympic trials and competition.

One of the incidents of the Olympics at Los Angeles was a claim that the lane marker, mistaking the customary 220 yard mark for the 200 meter line, staggered the lanes improperly and forced Ralph Metcalfe to run an extra yard against Eddie Toian in the final.

Offers Comparison

Under the universal standard, it will be easier to compare foreign performances with our own, between as well as during Olympic years. To the average American track fan, the information that a certain Italian youth named Luigi Beccali had dashed off 1500 meters in 3 minutes, 50 seconds at home did not mean a great deal, even to our expert dopsters, until Luigi bounced away from the world's best milers in the Olympic record time of 3:51.2. When it is realized this is equivalent to about a 4:10 or 4:11 mile, we find a sudden dawn of understanding.

The old phrase "Give him an inch and he'll take a mile" may not readily be shifted to "give him a centimeter and he'll take a kilometer" but the athletic advantages of the metric system, with its sounder, simpler divisions of measurement, seem clear.

News From Missouri

"The Kirksville Teachers' College Football team," writes George Krionderis for the information of all, "was the only college team in the state of Missouri to survive the undefeated and untied list and turned in the best season in K. S. T. C. history since 1908. Twenty-seven letters were awarded and of that number only 5 are lost by graduation and the team should be strong next year."

"Five of the Kirksville players were placed on the all-conference team by virtue of their conference championship which is the fifth

VALUE OF NURSES

"We cannot too strongly emphasize the value of the work of the school of public health nurses as a factor in securing the definite results so vitally essential to the success of school medical inspection work," Acting Supervisor of School Sanitation John W. German, Jr., said today.

German has just sent to school and public health nurses a set of duplicate follow-up reports, showing needed defect correction in their districts, and urged upon them the value of conferences with teachers, parents and guardians looking to early action in the matter.

title in the seven years Don Fairout and Chauncey Simpson have been coaching at the Kirksville institution."

PEAT DIGGING PROFITABLE TWO WAYS IN WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis. (AP)—A new industry for Dane county is working as a mutually beneficial situation for farmers hereabouts and the new industry's workers.

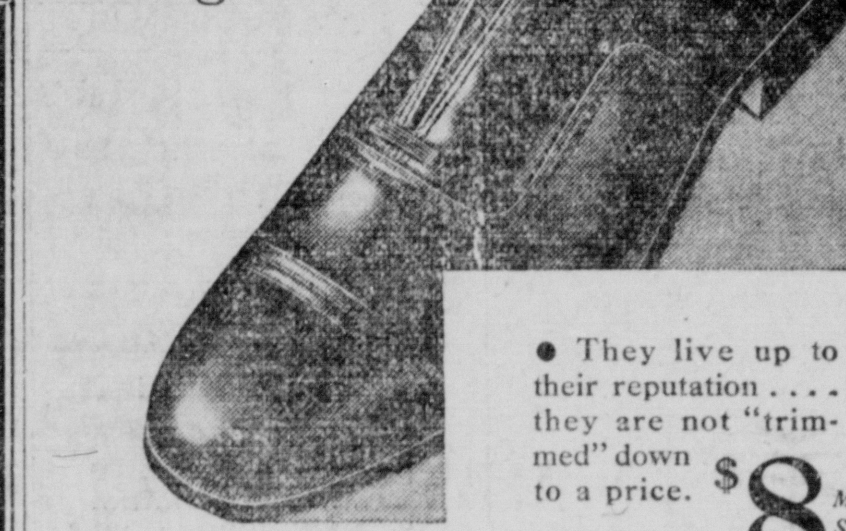

It is peat digging, in which hundreds of persons have become engaged in the last few months.

The diggers cooperate with the farmers by digging drainage ditches when they remove the fuel—thus the farmers get their marshy land converted into profitable pasture land and the diggers get fuel for the winter.
